The Annual Meeting of the Israel Society of Microbiology
March 6-7, 2019

As part of my ISME ambassador activity, I requested to allocate funds for student poster and short talks at the Israeli society of microbiology annual meeting.

The conference is considered to be the most important meeting held in the field of microbiology in Israel. This time approximately 450 microbiologists attended this conference, amongst them top Israeli scientists as well as international scientists.

Before the announcement of the prizes I gave a short presentation on ISME activity and goals that exposed the Israeli microbiology science to ISME activities.
